

Aimee Griffiths, Head of Social Impact, Employee Engagement and Internal Communications

Aimee Griffiths joined MoneyGram in January 2018 as Head of the MoneyGram Foundation, ultimately expanding her role to Head of Social Impact in February 2020. She currently oversees the development and implementation of global philanthropy, social responsibility, corporate citizenship and employee engagement programs for the company.

Originally a restaurant owner/operator in the Dallas area, Griffiths transitioned to nonprofit work in 2012, working as Director of Development for Rainbow Days and Chief Operating Officer of Café Momentum before moving into the corporate sector.

Griffiths is a past president of the Junior League of Dallas and a 2012 graduate of Leadership Dallas. She currently serves as a Board Trustee for Ursuline Academy and the Jesuit College Preparatory School Foundation. Additionally, she volunteers in an advisory capacity to The Concilio and the Nonprofit Leadership Studies Advisory Committee at the University of North Texas.