

Justin Iverson, Chief Information Security Officer

Justin Iverson was named Chief Information Security Officer in September 2021. He joined the Company in July 2018 as Head of Security Engineering and Architecture and went on to be appointed Head of IT and InfoSec Engineering in 2019. Iverson is responsible for Information Security Engineering, Security Operations, Governance Risk Compliance and disaster recovery/business continuity.

Iverson has spent over 25 years serving in many different roles related to cybersecurity and Information Technology. Prior to joining MoneyGram, Iverson worked at PrimeLending for 11 years where he held various leadership roles within the IT and cybersecurity organization. Iverson also serves as a member of the Imperva Customer Advisory Board.